

Saturday, October 21, 2017

The Sonoma County Genealogy Society

Presents

The Big Picture:
Sutro Library's Genealogy Resources

With the advent of technology, there's a common misconception that everything is available online and that libraries are becoming obsolete, when in fact, libraries are evolving into not only a physical, but also a digital hub for communities. Usage has increased especially among the younger generation. Join us for a presentation on how Sutro Library remains relevant and how you can be a part of this ever-changing, ever-growing community.

Dvorah Lewis, MLIS, is the newest Librarian at the California State Library who specializes in both the Sutro collection and genealogical resources. With a background in academic libraries and archives, she is excited to help genealogists, students, and the general public learn how to navigate the State Library's extraordinary collections and resources.

*Santa Rosa Finley Center, Cypress Room, 2060 West College Avenue
Chat at Noon Program at One*